

I am adamantly OPPOSED to amending current FCC rules in order to allow further media consolidation. Media sources need to be used for public, not private benefit. Diversity, variety, and locality are key to public benefit. The airwaves belong to the people, and if any changes occur they should be to the effect of increasing public access to and control of all media sources.